In This Corner of the World (2016) - 130 min.

This gorgeous animated movie is set in the 1930s-1940s in Hiroshima in Japan, around 10 years before and after the atomic bomb, but mainly in 1944-45. In 1944, 18-year-old Suzu moves into Kuré City in Hiroshima Prefecture to get married to naval officer, Hojo Shusaku. As the World War 2 gets closer to Japan day after day and food supplies diminish, Suzu manages her daily life through her wits, that is, until the summer of 1945.

NOBUNAGA CONCERTO (2016) - 126 min.

High-school student Saburo (Shun Oguri) is better in sports than his studies, for which he does not care much. One day, he is sent back in time and arrives in the medieval Japan of 1549. Saburo thus meets Nobunaga Oda, a famous feudal lord in Japanese history with whom he shares uncanny looks. Saburo as Nobunaga Oda, thus attempts the real great unification of the country of Japan.

Castle in the Sky (Tenku no Shiro Laputa) - (1986) - 124 min.

Castle in the Sky (Japanese: Tenkū no Shiro Rapputa) (known as Laputa: Castle in the Sky in Europe and Australia) is one of Hayao Miyazaki's most famous early works and the first Studio Ghibli animated movie. A young boy, Pazu, crosses the path of a mysterious girl, Sheeta who bears a magic crystal as necklace. Both will have to struggle to keep the artifact from a group of military agents, while searching for a legendary floating castle, Laputa.

THERMAE ROMAE (2012) - 108 min.

Set in ancient Rome, this movie narrates the story of architect Lucius, and his inability to keep up with new trends. He accidentally slips through time in a public bathhouse and resurfaces in a modern-day public bath in Japan. Learning multiple building techniques from the bath culture of Japan today, Lucius returns with novel ideas to ancient Rome, where he makes a triumph.
